C. 20013) : The Office, 2000. OCLC Number: (OCoLC)45415500 Subject: Food adulteration and inspection -- Government policy -- United States. Excerpt: . . . B-285727 For all but one of the outbreak-related recalls, USDA and FDA were not able to determine with certainty how the foods became contaminated. In the case in which USDA made a determination, it concluded that salmonella got into a chicken pork dressing mix through a cracked seal in a pump that transferred the mix from the cooking vat to the packaging line. According to USDA officials, their inspectors do not attempt to determine the cause of contamination for every recall. They believe this is the responsibility of the recalling company. Since January 2000, all plants that USDA inspects are required by regulation to have a hazard analysis critical control point (commonly called HACCP) plan for each process in the plant. According to USDA officials, when a company conducts a recall of a contaminated food, it must determine the cause of the contamination and take immediate corrective action to...

Here is the finest ebook i have got read until now. It really is simplistic but excitement within the 50 percent in the book. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
